Caleb: Dude, bro.
Caleb: Dude.
Caleb: Bro.
me: yessir
Caleb: http://nyti.ms/MgYdz1
me: oh no
Caleb: "North Korea's official Korean Central News Agency said that Mr. Kim, who took over after the death in December of his father, Kim Jong-il, had a 'grandiose plan to bring a dramatic turn in the field of literature and arts this year.'" me: This proves it!
Caleb: What are you doing in New York, dawg?
me: well sir
me: gotta do Bloomberg/Businessweek panel on security on the 12th me: and otherwise, chill with Josh and John
me: AND HOPEFULLY STEIN Caleb: NOT HIM I HATE HIM
me: I'M JUST KIDDING THOUGH SO DON'T BE WORRIED me: but that's mostly it
me: maybe catch up with ol' blacky
Caleb: Boy, I bet they're all mad at you for bringing up all that Texas heat, huh?
Caleb: Hey, if you see any rain up there, be sure to send it down our way, huh?
me: You know, I'm used to the heat, cause I'm from Texas!
me: OH BOY IF I COULD SOMEHOW GET SOME OF THAT RAIN DOWN HERE, PROBABLY I'D BE VOTED GOVERNOR Caleb: Brother, my lawn would be first in line at the polls!
me: Actually it's scientifically unfeasible to do any such thing.
me: OF COURSE THAT'S PROBABLY A PLUS IN TEXAS
Caleb: Because they're brown?
Caleb: What's the latest on the book, bro?
